M'CALL REFUSES TO SHOW BANK BOOKS TO COMMITTEE; WILL TELL THE GOVERNOR ALL

Wood Admits That He Violated Law in the Transfer of His Stock.

NO TAX STAMPS USED.

"See District Attorney," Says Thompson When Commissioner Pleads to Affix Them.

Gov. Whitman announced to-day that at the request of Chairman E. E. McCall of the Public Service Commission, he had postponed from Tuesday until Friday the hearing of the charges preferred against the Chairman.

This news came to the Thompson Legislative Committee in New York in the midst of a strenuous battle to get possession of the McCall bank account in the Bankers' Trust Company, following which McCall refused absolutely to let the account be shown. Senator Thompson announced that the Governor's action was taken without consulting him or Deputy Attorney General Lewis, who was in Albany, ready to proceed with the trial to-morrow.

The committee resolved to utilize the added time to press even more vigorously its investigations into both the McCall account and the suspicious conditions surrounding the attempts of Commissioner Robert C. Wood to divest himself of stock he formerly owned in the American Sanitary Supply Company and the Northwestern Construction Company.

Developments in the investigation of the two hours' session of this morning were as follows:

McCall refused to give consent to the Bankers' Trust Company to show his account.

The Trust Company barred the committee's expert accountants and refused to recognize the subpoena. Senator Thompson offered McCall a compromise proposition, that only his account from Jan. 1, 1913, to date, covering his occupancy of office as Public Service Commissioner, be examined to see whether the 387 shares of Kings County Electric Light and Power Company stock, which he said were given to his wife, had been hypothecated for loans on his account.

McCall said this put a new phase on the situation and he would take it under consideration, giving his answer this afternoon.

DECIDES NOT TO SHOW BANK BOOKS.

McCall later issued a statement refusing to give the committee access to any of his accounts. He said he would afford Gov. Whitman free access to all his official and private affairs but would give nothing to the committee.

Commissioner Wood and several of his business associates were severely grilled concerning his stock transactions on the suspicion that certificates of transfer had been made out recently instead of before Wood became a commissioner on May 29, 1914.

Wood was given an opportunity to resign before handwriting experts were put on the witness stand to testify regarding their investigations, but he refused to do so.

Wood asked permission to put the transfer stamps required by law on the certificates of his Sanitary Company stock that had been omitted previously. He was told that he

WM. E. BEMIS DEAD; WAS VICE-PRESIDENT OF STANDARD OIL CO.

Long Connected With Organization's Foreign Trade—Made Notable Deal With China.

Wm. E. Bemis, Vice President of the Standard Oil Company of New York, was suddenly seized with an attack of heart failure at his summer home near Port Jervis, N. Y., early this morning and died within a few minutes.

Mr. Bemis's death followed an attack of pneumonia, which resulted from a cold contracted while he was on a duck shooting trip last Friday. He suffered a sudden collapse early this morning, and by the time Dr. Knapp reached his bedside from Port Jervis he was beyond resuscitation.

Mr. Bemis had been connected with the Standard Oil organization in various capacities for many years, having begun his business career with that concern in 1882. In Wall Street he was well known as one of the powers of the Rockefeller corporation. He had but recently returned from a trip to China in the interests of the Standard Oil Company.

Mr. Bemis's body was taken this afternoon to his home in Larchmont, N. Y. No arrangements for the funeral have yet been made. He is survived by a widow.

Mr. Bemis was born in Cleveland in 1854 and was only eighteen years of age when he first entered business in connection with the Standard Oil Company. For years he was prominent in the management of the export business of the company.

Possibly one of Mr. Bemis's most noteworthy achievements for his company was his negotiation of the deal by which the Standard Oil Company sought to obtain a permanent contract with the Government of China for the development of Chinese oil fields.

Mr. Bemis was elected Vice-President and a Director of the Standard Oil Company of New York in 1911, following the reorganization of the Standard Oil interests that resulted from the anti-trust suit. All of the old directors and officers resigned and Henry Clay Folger Jr. became President of the company at that time.

Mr. Bemis was a member of the Ohio Society of New York, the Larchmont Yacht Club, the Camp Fire Club, the Apawamis Golf Club of Rye and the Ogunnawaga Hunting and Fishing Club.
